What do we have here?

- The year is 1870
- The body of a young girl named Charlotte Dymond has been found on the Moors
- She has been MURDERED

Detective Inspector....

- The Chief Detective Inspector has brought some evidence for you...
- You are no longer a Year 7 student, you are now going to 'Work In Character' as a Detective and investigate this case
- Look carefully at the evidence to see what clues you can find!

Evidence.

- What information did you gather from the evidence?
- What sort of person was Charlotte Dymond?
- How old was she? Did she have a job? Was she rich / poor? Where might she have lived? Where might she have been going? Why and How was she MURDERED!?

What is hot seating?

What is hot seating?

Hot seating is answering questions as though you are actually in that character's mind! It helps you to think and feel like them.

We call this 'working in character' in drama.

Detectives, we have had some new suspects come forward... We need to interview them to see if there is any more information on the case!

EVIDENCE

Who Do We Have Here?

Lord and Lady Thomas - the people who were hosting the party on the night of Charlotte's murder. Very wealthy and have a lot of power! Lady Thomas doesn't seem to like Charlotte as she was seen to be spending a lot of time with her husband! She also had been seen to be wearing expensive items that she claimed were 'gifts'... but who from?

Lord Thomas refuses to comment, but was recently seen in the jewelers nearby purchasing an expensive pearl necklace.... Suspicious!

EVIDENCE

Who Do We Have Here?

Matthew Weeks - Charlotte's finance who she is due to marry in a few months time. They have been an item for almost a year now, following a short relationship between Matthew and Charlotte's sister, Alice!

Matthew has recently lost his job at a local factory and struggles with drinking and becoming easily aggravated... particularly with Charlotte who he 'no longer trusts'.

How are these images linked to our learning so far in drama?

Learning Objective

- To understand what a 'Still Image' and 'Thought Tracking' are
- To be able to use a 'Still Image' and 'Thought Tracking' effectively

EVIDENCE

Who Do We Have Here?

Some images of the party have been sent into the police station... but these are not normal images... they are still images!!!

What is a still image?

A large, grey, cloud-like thought bubble with a small tail pointing towards the bottom left. Inside the bubble, the text "What is a still image?" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

Is this an interesting and effective still image?

You are now going to add a Thought Track...

A Thought Track is when a character speaks their thoughts and feelings out loud -
(NOT A CONVERSATION WITH ANOTHER PERSON!)

FLASHBACKS

- A Flashback is a scene that includes speech and movement (role play) and tells the audience something important that happened in the past.
- What do you think Charlotte's life was like before she was murdered?
- Was she happy / sad?
- How did she get on with her family and fiancé?

FLASH-FORWARD

- A Flash-forward is the same technique but tells the audience something that happens in the future.
- We are now going to jump forward to after Charlotte's death - when the Police interviewed the suspects!

3, 2, 1 - ACTION!

We can use a 'dramatic freeze' to help build up suspense for an audience

- Add in a freeze just before the murder happens!
- What does this add to the scene?
- Has the scene been improved?
- Does the death look more dramatic?
